[From The New-York Sun.]

THE MYSTERIOUS GATHERING. Early in this month a party of gentlemen were seated about a marble-topped table in the parlor of a fashionable club house on the Fifth-ave. Sofa-bottomed chairs, plush settees, and a thick velvet carpet were bathed in the mellow glow of softly shaded gaslights. Heavy laced curtains dropped from gilt window cornices, and an elegant side-board stood in one corner of the room.
Watters in full dress answered the faintest tinkle of silver hand bells. The conversation of the party was carried on in a lose murmur. The faces were sober, even sad. It was evident that the topic under discussion was of extraordinary interest. The evening lengthened. The room became blue with the fragrant smoke of a dozen choice eigars. And still no smiles swept over the sober faces at the table. The tiny hands of the clock crept to the hour of midnight, but the murmuring conversation still continued. Gestures were frequent, and occasionally an energetic sentence was spoken in a sharp, business-like manner. The waiters threated the group noiselessly, and disappeared as soon as their orders were filled. Occasionally a diamond flashed from the bosom of an excited speaker, or sparkled from fingers which were impatiently drumming the marble before their owners. One o'clock came. The business of the conclave was accomplished. Waiters brought in overcoats and canes. The party drifted down stairs, erept within the carriages dripping in the rain at the door, and were driven to their

THE "PARTY" TO BE PURGED. All this at the Manhattan Club-House. All these were prominent members', chiefs of a great political party, who had determined to purge that party of a load which threatened to straugle it in a city where its majority was numbered by teus of thousands. After an earnest deliberation, it was determined that the welfare of the party, if not of the public, demanded a change. Under the lax enforecast of the laws crime was running rampant. Noto-rious thieves and burglars had grown more than ordinarily bold, trusting to the secret springs of political action for safety when detected. Vigilance Committees had been organized, and city officials had been threatened with the halter. A change of policy was indispensable. It was therefore deliberately resolves to throw without the pale of the party the county oficial whose affiliations with the criminal portion of the community were the closest. Justice should be allowed to take its course, and robbers and murderers should be punished at all hazards. "THE INCORRUPTIBLE JUDGE."

Tuesday, the 10th of February, came, and with it a remarkable charge from an incorruptible Judge-a charge that recognized the fearful increase of crime, and that evinced a determination to battle with it manfully, and to stamp it out with the strong foot of the law. The District Attorney was to be no longer fettered, and witnesses were to be no longer wearled. Trials were to be no longer delayed until public sentiment had been toned down, or the Bemory of the crime had dwindled to forgetfulness. Retribution was to be swift and sure. An old standing rule of the Court, which provided for the postponement of a trial on the arraignment of a prisoner, was promptly revoked, to the surprise of all the old Court officials. CRIME INCREASES-THIEVES " WON'T READ."

This was the bugle blast of the war against the scound. drels who had too long robbed and murdered unoffending citizens with impunity. The thieves laughed in their sleeves. It was only the old dedge, so they said, "to shut The eye of the public." They could control the Primaries, and they would like to see the man that " would go back Bold erimes increased in pumber. The plate glass of the Park Bank was smashed in broad daylight; a broker was choked in his own office, and his money carried off before his eyes, just before nightfall; a wealthy gambler was pinioned and gagged, early in the evening, in his room fronting Broadway, thousands of dollars taken from his pockets, and precious gems torn from his fingers and his frilled shirt bosom; a diamond merchant was waylaid in Fourth-st.; and a hundred daring petty erimes cropped out in various sparts of the city, while above them all the specter of the Rogers murder towered, and haunted the public mind like a hideous nightmare. The thieves would not read the signs of the FIVE MINUTES' WORK.

At length Mr. Stephen Boyle, with a dozen aliases, was seen lurking around Squires's jewelry store in the Bowery. The police successfully intercepted him. He jumped into a butcher wagen, and drove for dear life. The police pursued. A running fire of pistol shots was scattered along the Bowery. The officer caught his prey uninjured. Mr. Boyle belonged to a gang who beasted of their political influence. He was caught on a Monday. He was tried and convicted on Thursday. The unflinching Judge instantaneously sentenced him to the State on for 40 years. On the same day three thieves of political influence, pleaded guilty of burglary in the third degree. The bait did not take. Sentence was not sus-pended. They were given the full term-five years in Sing Sing. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, at the same hour, George Jones, thief, was tried, convicted of burglary in the first degree, and sentenced to the State Prison for 20 years, the whole proceeding occupying only the short space of five minutes. Quick work was this by an earnest Judge, reflected last Fall. And this is a Judge for whose impeachment THE TRIBUNE has clamored during the past year. Nor was this all. On the same day the same Judge sentenced one McNames, a highwayman, to prison for ten years. THUNDERBOLTS DEOFFING.

So much for one day's work. The thieves were alarmed. Thunderbolts were dropping from an apparently cloudless sky. They were caught in a storm of red-hot coals without their sheet-iron umbrellas. The public forgot the Rogers mystery and showered encomiums upon the two Judges. But a jargon of curses arose from the slitins of the Sixth Ward, the "fences" of Prince-st., and the liquor-shops of the Sixteenth and Twenty-first Wards. Threats of assassination were loud and deep. Politicians were "seen," but in vain. The magic word "Primaries" had lost its charm.

Falling in their schemes, the thieves attempted by open force what they could not accomplish by strategy. The corners of Centro-st. were packed, and prisoners were taken from the custody of deputies. The entries and stairways of the Court-room were filled with professionals, and the room itself was crowded, with the intention of overawing the Judges. But all was of no avail. Justice was dealt out with inexorable rigor.

BARNARD "IN THE MIDNIGHT GASLIGHT." Then a pet of the thieves, himself a deputy sheriff, was brought to the dock. He was a man who had premeditated and carried out in cold blood the murder of a police officer. So confident was he that his political strength would secure him from the consequences of his crime, that he had preclaimed his intention of murder in an open court room. The readers of The Sun have perused the history of his trial. The chamber of the Court was thronged with the worst desperadoes. Witnesses were threatened with death. The jury was dared to bring in a werdlet of guilty. Bets of $50 to $10 were made in the presence of the jurors that the murderer would sscape. The Judge on the bench was cursed for his precautions against an attempt to rescue the murderer. In open Court be warned the villains that their purposes were known, and that they would not be allowed to succeed. So great was the danger, that the presence of two hundred policemen was cessary to prevent an outbreak. The witnesses gave in their evidence with nervous rejuctance. The jury went out to deliberate, but were afraid to return with their verdict. Even the Judge resorted to strategy to clear the room, saying he was going home, and ordering the jury to be locked up, as there was no prospect of their agreement. The gang still watched the proceedings with wolfish eyes. At last the jury returned. Fear had left its trace in their verdict, for it was tempered with a recommendation to mercy. The gang festered with cursos. But the Judge, with quiet dignity, arose in the midnight gaslight and sentenced the brulal assassin to death. By his order the doors were closed, and the prisoner sent to the Tombs. Then the thieving mob went

THIEVES THIRSTING FOR THE BLOOD OF THE "LION-HEARTED" BARNARD. This Judge was the only one who had the courage to wage an open warfare with the robbers and murderers. He was taken from the regular term of the Supreme Court and placed over the Oyer and Terminer solely on account of his indomitable pluck. The thieves know and fear him. All their efforts to procure the usual writ of error have failed. Even if a writ of error should be granted, the hon-hearted Judge has announced his determination to quash the proceedings.

John Real was sentenced to death. From that moment browd ruffians, all eagerly scenting his tracks. Respectable citizens gazed at the unusual irruption in wonder. The Judge, though unarmed, remained cool and impassive, not seeming to notice the scowls of the gang or the curses hissed in his ear. Once he asked a number of wellknown citizens whether they had any special objection to accompany him home. All refused. One man-a prominent Republican office-holder-took the Judge by the "You are doing a noble work, Judge, but you are in great danger. Why do you go unarmed !" "The law forbids the carrying of concealed weapons. I cannot break the law, even if my life should pay the orfeit. I shall do my duty regardless of consequences." "I am armed, and will go home with you," replied the

THE BAND OF ASSASSINS AT HIS HEELS. The circle of ruffians was broken as the two passed without the door of the hotel. Stealthy footsteps followed them, and beneath the gas-lamp at the intersection of Broadway and Twenty-first-st. another murderous-eyed gang was encountered. The Judge and his companion were saluted with profanity, but no violence was offered. They reached the Judge's home in safety. But the band of assasms are still at his heels.

BARNARD "BITTERLY UPBRAIDED" BY O'BRIEN, WHO DON'T WANT TO BE CAST OUT. Will John Real be executed † His comrades are fearfully excited. They have no hopes of Gov. Hoffman's interference, and, as a last resort, they have rested their expectations upon Sheriff O'Brien. They openly assert that that official will not obey the mandate of the Court. They say that the Sheriff will take the risk of impeachment for a dereliction of duty, and afterward throw himself into the arms of his constituents for a reflection. His fight with the leaders of his party has already begun. It is said that the Judge has been bitterly upbraided by the Sheriff for his exposure and defeat of the plan for the rescue of Real. But the death sentence has been pronounced, and the assassin must die. If the Sheriff refuses to do his duty another officer will be found who will execute the sentence of the law.

In the mean time the half-formed Vigilance Committees are becoming stronger. Their members will sustain the Judges in their determination to sweep the criminals from the city. The clouds are breaking, and a long night of violence and crime is passing away. The end is at hand. In all probability the present week will close with the trial, conviction, and sentence of four murderers, among them the assassin of Mr. Rogers. The latter has been identified, and the evidence against him will, it is said, warrant his conviction. One thing is certain, the Judges will faithfully do their duty.

will faithfully do their duty.

[From The New-York Times.]

HOW NEW-YORK IS GOVERNED.

Let us look at the modus operandi of these city law-makers. In the first instance, there is never a debate in either of the Boards upon the subject brought up for action. Every question presented in the respective Chambers, from opening a street, granting privileges to a horse railroad, building a sewer, laying a crosswalk, remitting taxes, down through all the grades of legislation to giving permission to the keeper of an apple-stand to moundor will sidewalk, is arranged and "out and dried" beforehand.

mention taxes, down through all the grades of legislation to giving permission to the keeper of an applie-stand to member the sidewalk, is arranged and "cut and dried" beforehand.

To do this effectively, there is for each Board an organization composed of a trusted "agent," who is not a member, and a "ringmaster," who is. To the first of these worthies every editzen who has any incliness with the Board for any purpose is directed. From the "agent" the applicant learns precisely how much it will cost to secure his point, and through him all negotiations with the "Ring" are carried on. The preliminary arrangements being complete, and the amount of money decided upon by the parties being in the hands of the "agent of the Board," the "ringmaster" performs his part of the contract by obtaining the necessary legislation.

The money thus received is divided in equal portions among the members of the "Ring."

The grade of prices, of course, is according to the value of the privilege granted. For instance, if the Third-ave, Raifroad desires authority to run a "turn-out" through Printing-House square, the grant will not be made until from $2,000 to $5,000 are paid up. If the Hudson River Raifroad desires, year after year, to run dummy engines from the deput at St. John's Park to Thirty-second-st., in spite of a resolution of inquiry by the Company persists in its course to the terror of horses and the convenience of its directors, an offering of $15,000 will secure an uninterrupted continuance of the privilege for another twelve-monith at least. If the street-cleaning contractor does not wish a report made to the Boards of the causes of non-compliance with his contract in the essential particulars of keeping the cross-walks clear of snow and lee, in accordance with a joint resolution, it is very easy for him by a douecur of proper amount to the "ring agent" to stave off the presentation of the information called for. If a resolution to extend Park-place from College-place to the North River could not be agreed on by a c oath, registered by a magistrate in its confidence. It does not include the whole of the members of either Board, but only so many of them as may be sufficient to carry every measure by a two-thirds vote, in spile of the feeble protests of one or two honest members in either organization, and in defiance of a possible vote by the Mayor. The existence of this oath-bound league was almost publicly admitted in the Chamber of the Board of Councilianen, in 1807, on the memorable occasion when inkstands were flung at legislative heads, and pistols and knives were brandshed by frata members. This occurred when Brinesman, a Democrat, by a stratogic fettion, affiliated himself with the Republican members, and, by his own vote, placed himself in the President's chair, wresting the office from Stacom, to whom it had been assigned by the "Eing," in caucus. gned by the "Ring," in caucus. In throwing an inkstand at Brinckman's head, the im pulsive Long, in justification of his conduct, said: "Didn't that (we can't the descriptive epither) take an each before."

oath before —"
Here the revelation was checked by the watchful Stacom, who reared out to Long, "Sit down you (we again omit the epithet). What the — are you talking Go into the private meeting-rooms of either of the Go into the private spectragrooms of either of the Boards any day an hour or two before the public assem-blage of the members in their respective Chambers. A score or so flashify-dressed men, very youthful in appea-ance, odorous of liquor, chars, and chewing-tobacco, and much given to profune language, will be found. They would anywhere take the palm for boisterous and unwould anywhere take the palm for boisterons and undignified demeanor. As each one arrives, the usual question which he propounds shows that he is simply the tool of his masters, the "agent" and the "ringmaster." Such brief interrogatories as these are put and promptly answered, denuded, however, of the impious imprecations which always garnishes them: "Well, what's up today?" "How about that opening of Park-place?" "Have you seen those parties?" "Yes; that's all right." "We've got that fixed." "We'll shove it through today." See day," &c.

These are the men who take care of the interests of the city. When shall we have a change?

THE FIRST WARD MALPRACTICE CASE-CORO-NER'S INQUEST.

Coroner Flyan commenced an investigation resterday into the circumstances attendant on the death of Mrs. Ellen O'Hara and her newly-born tefant, which occurred on Sunday night at No. 36 South William-st. James Walker of No. 16 Greenwich-st., who attended the woman during the latter part of her confinement, was arrested on a charge of having improperly used instruments to aid the birth, and, by his ignorance and incompetency, causing the death of the mother and child. The following testimony was clicited:

Henry W. Good, M. D., testified:

Henry W. Good, M. D., testified:

I am a practicing physician, and reade at No. 120 Greenwich-st.; st 11 o'clock on Friday night, the 12th inst. I was called in to attend decreased, who was said to be in labor with a first child; the measurer stated that he called on tr. I visited her several times during Starrday, the likh, and at 30 clock that evening, finding labor advancing, and the parts slower dilating. I concluded to remain with her; at 11:30 p. m., I examined the patient and found the os uters dilated to about the size of a Spanish Golfar; having by reason of my practice been mable to get any sloep for several nights, and the condition of the patient being favorable, I concluded to lie down on the sofs, telling the parties in the room to call me in case they required my assistance; at middlight the husband awoke me, and informed not that for. Walker had been called in; Dr. Walker then stepped up and askedime if I would allow him the privilege of examining the patient; I told him he might, as I considered it as belonging to him, he having sent the parties to me: he then examined the patient, and after his examination said he would use instruments for her delivery; I said. "Dr. there is not sufficient dilation of the drum of wishing to be present, I left the house during my attendance on the woman to raw and a serious of the neuron of the neuron of the neuron of the neuron of the would not be well not consult the cause of death to be rupture of the uterus, evidently caused by use of instruments.

Mary Dolan of No. 18 Stone-st. testified:

Was in the room of deceased on Saturday, from 35 o'clock in the evening until Sunday morning; Ir. Good was in attendance; he was asleep on the lounge at about 11 o'clock, when he was awakened by the friends of deceased as Dr. Walker came in; he was sent for without Dr. Good a knowledge: Dr. Walker remarked to Dr. Good that he had not treated the patient right—that she ought to have been delivered eight hours ago; Dr. Good, after making some remarks about the way 31e had been treated, left the house: soon after. Dr. Walker asked for Dr. Good, and, finding that he had left, he (Dr. Walker) delivered the deceased with natruments; he waited about half an hour before using the instruments; about 8:39 that night, that it only required patience and the woman would be delivered.

John Real was sentenced to death. From that moment his gang of cut-throats dogged the footstepa of the Judge. The witnesses are hourly threatened with murder. The life of one of them was aved only by the timely presence of a police officer. The hatred of the gang, however, seems to have been concentrated upon the Judges.

READ, THINK, AND DECIDE. The simple therapeutics of the patriarchal era, when herbs given "for the healing of the nations" were the only medicines in use, find little favor with the medical profession of the present day. Yet at that early period of the world's history the ordinary term of human life was at least eight times longer than it is now. It is, therefore, manifest that the stamina of man has seriously declined in the lapse of ages.

It is a significant fact during this progress of human degeneration and decay, an immense number of powerful poisons have been introduced into the medical repertoire, while the mild, vegetable system of treatment, exclusively practiced when the world was young. has been in a great measure abandoned by the medical profession. This is a curious coincidence, and it suggests the possibility of a direct connection between the physical deterioration of the species, and the wholesale administration of deadly mineral and other drugs. It may well be doubted whether the mineral salts and oxides, and the no less dangerous alkaloids, which chemistry has added to pharmacopæia, have not destroyed more than all diseases they have been prescribed to cure. One thing, at least, is certain, viz.: that the average term of human existence has been fearfully shortened since the days when the vegetable kingdom was the only medical dispensary known to mankind.

The truth is-and sensible people are becoming more alive to it every day-that the world is over doctored. The principles of medication are simple, but they have been so befogged by technicalities, so mystified by professional verbiage, that one-half the community fancy they can neither be interpreted nor applied except by persons who have been taught to clothe the living truths of science in the dead languages. It is not to the interest of "the Faculty" that the theory and practice of medicine should be simplified and popularized, and, therefore, the public can receive but little light on the subject from that quarter. To prevent crime is one of the great ends of

of the grand objects to medical science. It is better to prevent than to cure, and much easier. Vital power is the natural antagonist of all the influences that militate against health-whether they exist in the air we breathe, the water we drink, in the objects with which we come in contact or in ourselves. Without a sufficiency of this resistant principle there can be no hope of escaping prevailing epidemics, or of enjoying, even under the most favorable external circumstauces, an immunity from sickness and pain. This fact being established, the next question is, how shall a deficiency in physical and constitutional vigor be supplied? Instructed by the experience of twenty years, and sustained by the testimony of thousands of individuals of both sexes, hailing from all parts of the world, we reply that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only medicine that can be fully relied on as a protective and preventive tonic and alterative, in all climates and under all contingencies. With a system strengthened and fortified by the use of this invigorant, no one who possesses common prudence need fear effects of malaria. It is the best safe-guard against infection and contagion at present known. It produces appetite; it promotes digestion; it prevents constipation; it regulates the flow of bile; it strengthens the nerves; it purifies the animal fluids; it clears the brain; and the vehicle of its medicinal properties being a pure diffusible stimulant, their influence is extended to every portion of the system. Mere alcoholic stimulants, though administered largely in medical practice, are not in themselves medicine, but they pervade the whole organization more certainly and swiftly than anything else that can be given. They are quickly taken up by the absorbents, and there is not a fiber of the body, between the crown of the head and the sole of the foot, which is exempted from their influence. Hence a spirituous stimulant is the best medium for conveying to all the organs and members of a feeble or disordered system the means whereby that system is to be recruited and regulated. It is for this purpose that the alcoholic element is used in the preparation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is simply the instrument or vehicle by which the medicinal virtues of the preparation are carried to their objective points and rendered active. The great objection to ordinary tonies with an alcoholic basis is, that the spirit used is impure. The charge is true, and the objections to them founded on this cause are rational and just. The poison of adulterated liquor counteracts the effect of any sanative vegetable juice or extracts with which they are combined, and hence the worse than uselessness of the tonic tinctures habitually prescribed by physicians. They are all, without exception, made of inferior alcohol, and seven-eighths of them are positively deleterious. Hostetter's Bitters are entirely exempt from this serious drawback. The diffusible stimulant employed in their preparation is rye spirit, absolutely pure. It is rectified and tested until it is found to be utterly free from voltatile oil, or any other unwholesome ingredient, and it is believed that there is no other proprietary medicine in existence which is manufactured with such conscientious care, with regard to all its components, as Hostetter's Bitters. Most tonics are powerful extracts, but this preparation is not an extract at all. On the contrary, it soothes and calms the nerves, and is a delightful anodyne, as well as an unequaled stom-achic and alterative.

It is almost unnecessary to call the attention of dyspeptics to a medicine which is everywhere recognized as the standard specific for Indigestion. In every town in the United States which contains a drug store, or a store in which drugs are sold, it is known as a remedy for stomach complaints of every class, from simple flatulency up to the most obstinate chronic torpidity of that most important orchronic torpidity of that most important or-gan. Its anti-bilious properties are also uni-versally understood and appreciated, and in the West and South-West the old "ague cures" have been generally abandoned, and this real cholagogue—which actually breaks up intermittent fevers within a week after the first does has been taken adopted in their first dose has been taken—adopted in their stead. In the intermittent fevers, so common in malarious districts during the Fall of the year, it has proved equally efficacious, and it may be truly said that it combines in an equal degree the qualities of a restorative and a preventive.
It is not alleged that Hostetter's Bitters are an infallible panacea for all bodily ills. There never was such a wonder, and there never will be. But that the tonic is the most efficacious and purest in use; that it is the best existing safeguard against the miasma that generates epidemic fever and bowel complaints; that it is a genuine remedy for Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and Indigestion, in all their forms, and that its popularity (as attested by its sales and the testimonials in its favor from all parts of the testimonials in its favor from all parts of the Western Hemisphere) exceed that of any other proprietary medicine on this side of the Atlantic, are palpable facts which cannot be gnored Prepared and sold by
